4 OF FAMILY KILLED IN HIGHWAY PLUNGE

PRINCETON (CP)-Four members of a Kelowna family were killed Friday night when their car skidded off the Hope-Princeton Highway, 15 miles west of here and plunged 500 feet down a mountain

Police identified the dead as Andrew Yaciw, his wife Gwen, and Mrs. Yaciw's two daughters by a former marriage, Ann and Violet Kilsbey.

The tragedy was spotted at about 9 p.m. when a provincial highways patrol workman saw tracks leading off the highway.

To Get the Facts

W American economic penetra-tion they do not know all the facts and cannot know them so long as foreign-controlled corporations and labor unions give no public accounting of their affairs.

Wisely, the Canadian government proposes to compel the dis-closure of these facts. Under legislation now before Parliament any company in Canada controlled by foreigners must annually reveal its assets, liabilities and profits, the number of shares held by Canadians and non-residents, the nationality of, and the amount of money paid to, directors and officers.

In the same way international labor unions (all of them centred in the United States) must report what dues they have received every year, how the money has been spent, the names and nationality of union offi-cials, the methods of their election, and the names of locals under their trusteeship.

There is no good reason why all this information should not be pub-can penetration in all forms comes from a lack of specific facts.

Under the government's legisla-tion we shall get them and on the two vital fronts of corporate management and labor unions we shall be better able to judge the whole problem of realtions between Canada and the United States. This should be useful and welcome in

A Compromise Agreement

IT WAS ONLY A SMALL NEWS coast at certain seasons for the next item in the welter of world news but nevertheless a welcome one. A dispatch from London says that Britain and Iceland have settled their long dispute over offshore fishing rights.

The Icelandic fishing grounds had been used by British fishermen for many years until Iceland declared its limits of control would extend 12 miles out to sea. Britain protested, and at one time protected its fishing fleets with ships of the Royal Navy.

However, a compromise of sorts has been effected. Britain will fish within six miles of the Icelandic three years, after which the 12-mile limit will come into effect.

It will be remembered that Canada was a staunch champion of the six-mile sovereignty, 12-mile fishing limit for all nations at the last world conference on this troublesome topic, and very nearly succeeded in having the meeting accept the proposal. It was defeated by one vote, however, and must come up again. the meantime, Britain and Iceland have shown that, despite earlier acrimony, a solution is possible. It is to be hoped that the final agreement will work out well

LOOSE ENDS

A Visit to the Lively Home Town of Mr. Bennett

MANY baffled politicians and amateur psychologists are fascinated by the lively mind of Premier Bennett, now on scintillating display in the provincial legisla-ture. But this phe-nomenon is not understandable until you repair to its origins, and its origins can be found only in the unofficial British Colum bia capital of Kelo na. That splendid little city produced Mr. Bennett and I doubt Hutchison that he could have been produced elsewhere. For he is the voice, the incarnation, the full flowering of Kelowna, the small-town boy writ large.

THE foreign traveller in the Okanagan Valley (and I count myself a for-eigner amid that separate civilization) may think that all its three cities of Penticton, Kelowna and Vernon are almost identical, but they are not Without pretending to understand all the subtle differences between them, lowna is the town of push-and-go, the citadel of the civic patriotism, the Boosters' Belt, the natural habitat and spiritual home of a statesman like Mr. Bennett, His optimism, his apparent economic heresies but actual conserva-tism, his whole view of life and politics come straight out of the Okanagan land and climate, shot through with sun-shine, all boyish, effervescent and still a little naive.

NOTHING is quite as simple, easy and hopeful as he and Kelowna think but their world, if small, is lively and delightful. If all the towns of Canada were as substantial, prosperous and pleasant as Kelowna, if all our politi-cians were as sublimely sure of themselves as Mr. Bennett, this would be a different nation, and the riddle of the ages would be solved.

Mr. Bennett already has solved it in his own town and government but unfortunately the nation and the world won't listen to his remedy.

At all events, Kelowna must have enjoyed peculiarly enlightened local mixture of eastern Canada and England and no doubt will always re-elect him. which regarded this land not as a tem-porary bivouac on the westward march at home, being a temporary resident, but as a permanent home.

THUS with a faith perhaps pathetic or comical at the time, they surveyed streets wide enough for a metropolis. They refused to surrender their lakeside waterfront to commerce and, where other cities would have built warehouses and slums, they preserved a charming park which, I take it, is forever sacred. And having laid out this daring design, they proceeded to construct a triumph of town planning.

Like all the Okanagan towns, Kelowna is the surprising fruit of an apple tree. A trickle of mountain water on the caked but fertile Dry Belt soil produced an extraordinary crop, and the local ex-penditures of Mr. Bennett's government acted as a useful fertilizer

I was proud to be entertained over a morning cup of coffee by men who had often sat beside the premier, at this same table, arguing with him the doctrines of Social Credit, and I was glad to hear that, in his native atmos-phere, he listens genially to all complaints as if the humblest resident were his equal.

DEMOCRACY thrives well in this extravagant weather, and ideology, though it may divide the legislature, counts for little, especially when Mr. Bennett never believed in Social Credit anyway. As he tells the group at the coffee bar, Social Credit is only good government and that's a safe sentiment

I had seen all this and more, and yet the knowledge had not penetrated beyond the level at which the mind collects all the information passed to it by the eye. I was like Dr. Watson, who had daily ascended the steps at 221b Baker Street for years without taking note of how many there were. "You see, Watson, but you do not observe, the Master pointed out.

Closer Reality

The implications of what I had seen only came to my attention later, and that as a result of sermons from earnest missionaries at my boarding school, and even then if I am honest I must confess that the actual discomfort of my Eton collar was more real to me than the ferings so graphically described by the reverend fund-raiser in the pulpit.

But when I did apprehend the nature and extent-of the misery and squalor to be found in the world, I still made the mistake of assuming that it was only in what we today call "the under-developed countries" that these conditions obtained, and I can date for you exactly the moment at which my eyes were of 1934. I was sitting in the special train that was trundling slowly northwards through the industrial heart of England—the Black Country, as it is so aptly named en route for a cadet camp at Strensall, outside York.

It was my first camp, and I can still recall the smell, later to become familiar, of a trainful of hot bodies in hot serge uniforms, mixed with the scent of rifle-oil, blanco and metal polish.

Outside Stockport the train, now of prodigious length, stopped to pick up another contingent, and while they were being loaded on I had nothing to do but survey the view from my carriage

I was looking down on street after street of small and grimy hovels, each with its tiny yard in which a clothes-line displayed a few grey articles of patched underclothing, flapping discon-solately. As far as the eye could see these dwellings stood, their cheap bricks deeply bitten by the acids in the smoke. that hung low over the huddled roofs.

A few dispirited children played in the streets or turned a deaf ear to the summoning shriek of a bony mother, as she stood gesticulating in the narrow doorway. At the street corners were small knots of men, leaning against the walls with hands in pockets.

But I know that my experience is a mmon one. Youthful idealism is the rule the world over, rather than the exception, as anyone who has had anything to do with young people can

D. Macfarlane

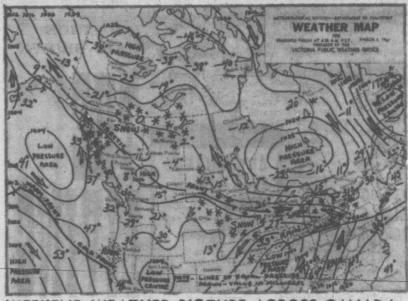

He was the judge whose special concern was Victoria, and he brought to the local scene a flavor of learning, scholarship and wit for which life here will always be the better. He was held in as great affection and esteem by the lawyers, among whom he was known by a variety of friendly sobriquets such as "The Chief Justice of Vancouver Island," and plain "Mac." It was the mark of the graduation of a young lawyer into the circle of seasoned veterans when his seniors did not reprove him for referring to Mr. Justice Macfarlane as "Mac." It took years and years of practice to gain this privilege, which, it should be added, was er indulged in before his Lordship.

No doubt this revelation will come as a great surprise to him.

The newspaper world is full of lawyers and ex-lawyers, but the legal fraternity has few ex-journalists. A. D. Macfarlane is one of the few, having been not only a reporter on a big daily, but the full-blown editor of a country paper before taking to the law. For the life of me I cannot think why anyone would leave the sordid and unremunanyone would leave the sorud and unremun-erative untertainties of life in the Fourth Estate for the perilous and unremunerative chances of legal practice, but that is what our Judge did. And a good thing too; for in making this choice he greatly widened the circle of those who have been privileged to profit from his acquaintance.

COWICHAN LEADER-It may not be logical or practical but it is the way of contracting parties that the IWA should want 12½ cents more for its labors in its next contract with its employers on the B.C. coast.

The IWA, facing many problems, including a dwindling membership, layoffs, auto-mation and some public antipathy, feels that its remaining workers deserve better than they are receiving.

Although no one says much about it the production per man in the lumber industry has grown, partly through automation and partly because as times become tougher employees tend to work harder, as has often been proven in the past.

One sidelight on the coastal lumber industry is the shrinking union membership on both sides of the border. A WRITER'S DIARY

By ROBERTSON DAVIES

In January, very near to her 70th birthday, Angela Thirkell died in London. She had written 34 books, most of them novels, and enjoyed a wide popularity in the British Commonwealth and the U.S.A.

I want to say something about her here because I disapprove of the way literary critics ignore popular writers. True, they do not offer the material for careful analysis and theory-spinning that is to be found in writers of advanced opinion or techniques, but they are sometimes excellent craftsmen, and they give a vast amount of pleasure.

Mrs. Thirkell qualifies for attention on both counts.

She came of a writing family. Rudyard Kipling was her her time distinguished and cousin; her father was J. W. ethereal in a degree now rarecousin; her father was J. COMEDY AND DRAMA VIE FOR ATTENTION THIS WEEK

Maybe Shakespeare's prescription for taming a shrew is as discredited by moderns as cobweb for wounds but if the bard is to be believed, it worked once and created a lot of roistering fun in the process. Victoria College Players' Club will demonstrate next week with their production of one of Shakespeare's most popular comedies. Karl Wyllia is soon as Potymorkia and Dala Technology. comedies. Karl Wyllie is seen as Petrucchio and Dale Irvine as Kate in "The Taming of the Shrew" which plays at the college from Tuesday through Saturday. Canadian Players, on their annual cross-country tour, will appear at Oak Bak Junior High School Friday and Saturday nights, presenting their much discussed contemporary masterpiece, "The Caucassian Chalk Circle." Comedy is mixed with the drama of two women in conflict over possession of a child. Brecht's play stars Yafa Lerner and Bernard Behrens, above also Hugh Webster and former Victoria actress Maureen Fitzgerald. Canadian Players will also stage Shakespeare, doing a matinee performance of "The Tempest," Friday.

New Highs Registered At Toronto

By GREG MacDONALD It was a good week for brokers and investors as stock market continued its most prolonged advance in nearly a decade.

On the Toronto Stock Exchange industrials moved to within slightly more than two points of the all-time index nigh of 555,65 in mid-July 1959, reflecting the strong advance in New York

The rise in the stock markets in Toronto and Montreal began in November and hasn't stopped, with investors firmly putting their faith in the in dustrial issues.

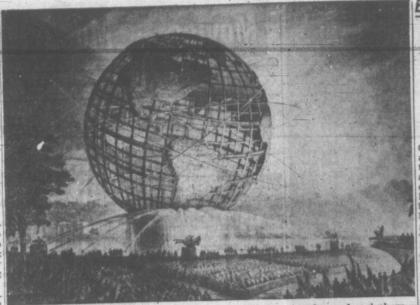

The advance, which first started in specialities, rapidly broadened to take in nearly all sections of the industrial list, so that the number of issues traded in some daily sessions topped 700, a new high for the Toronto exchange.

~ P&O-Orient Lines' 28,000-ion Orcades sails for the Orient this April.

Now you can sail to Japan and the Orient for less than it costs to vacation at home!

D&O-ORIENT LINES now offer vacations to the fabulous Orient-Japan, Hong Kong, the Philippines, Singapore-for as little as $17 a day!

For example, a round trip to Manila costs less than you'd spend at a resort hotel by the day. You'll see the Orient on your way. And you have a choice of any one of frequent sailings timed for the best seasons.

A glance at the map below shows you your course. You board your graceful P&O-Orient liner at Vancouver, San Francisco or Los Angeles.

A few short days later you're in Honolulu where you can pick orchids, ride a surfboard or learn the hula. Seven days later you step ashore in Japan at Yokohama. (Suggestion: take the trip overland from Tokyo to Kobe on the beautiful Inland Sea where you can pick up your ship again three days later.) Your next stop is Hong Kong with its treasure-troves for shop-

The last port of call on your trip can be

Manila, Singapore, Australia or even Europe, depending upon which ship you take.

Travel in the Grand Manner

The service on P&O-Orient liners is delightfully British. A steward is never more than a finger's wave away. Your meals are in the great Continental tradition. Your ship has two swimming pools (one in tourist and one in first class) and thousands of feet of open deck for sun and games. There are movies, parties, dances, concerts and all the time in the world for catching up on your reading and meeting new friends from every part of the world.

And it's all yours whether you shoot the works and go glitteringly first class, or gayly informal in tourist.

Sailing Dates

Orsova sails from Vancouver March 15, Orcades sails April 10, Himalaya sails July 8, Orsova sails August 10, Orcades sails September 6, and Oronsay sails October 29.

There are return sailings through the Orient leaving Manila for Hong Kong, Japan, Hawaii and the West Coast in April, June, July, August and October.

Round trip fares to Japan start at just $806 first class and $672 tourist class.

Fly there-sail back

If time is short you can have the best of both worlds by flying out to the Orient and sailing back on P&O-Orient with no worries about excess baggage charges for your loot.

PHOENIX, Ariz.—The boy is still there, as if Willie Mays, the greatest baseball player of this time, were twins, man and boy in the same body. In a couple of months, Mays will be 30, and 10 seasons as a Giant are down in the book. But the passage of those thrilling years have altered him little, and the boy often dominates the man.

"Has it changed much?"

"The pitching," he replied. "The pitchers, they have more variety. More stronger, better. The pitching's differmore variety when I first started. They're more good pitchers.

Even the bottom clubs got the good pitchers now."

The bat hitting the ball caused him to turn toward the cage, and his face clenched as he squinted into the glare, following the fly's high course. "They pitch me different." he said. "Not one way, I mean. If they pitched me one way, they have the course way they have the course way they have the course way. I'd hit them all the time. They mix me up, one way this, one way that."

Raising, training and handling gun dogs is an old and interesting pastime. It also adds up to mighty big business. It is common knowledge that hunters and anglers are just about the easiest guys and gals to pry loose from their money that you could hope to meet. Not so well known is the fact that some of the biggest spenders are people who they have does

Lots of fuss is being made over the probability that Floyd Patterson and Ingeniar Johansson will attract a gross revenue of about $3,000,000 while swapping punches for the world heavyweight title at Miami on March 13. But this merely draws a shrug from the figure filberts who keep track of where all the U.S. recreational dollars go. They remind us that sportsmen spend an average of eight times that amount every day. For instance, U.S. hunters and fishermen each year shell out seven times the amount collected by all jewelry stores, three times the take of all liquor stores and 50 per cent more than is spent at retail gasoline filling stations.

According to the figures, more money is spent on sportmen's dogs than is taken in for admission to all base.

Gun dog trials have a huge following in the U.S., and were once a colorful part of the outdoor scene on Vancouver Island. One of the country's biggest annual trials was held at Parksville. Other competitions were staged at Hill-crest, Goldstream Flats and near Duncan.

For several years the Island trials have been missing and most gun dog clubs have been inactive. But now there

PUBLISHER'S NOTEBOOK

The week in review:

MONDAY—A great flap today when the news of Eaton's top-level appointments, due for release Tuesday, was leaked in Vancouver this morning. At noon—15 minutes after the engraving deadline—it was discovered that the cut of local manager Alan Leith had disappeared from the newspaper's library. What to do? Some bright lad downtown conceived the idea of taking a new picture with a Polariod Land Camera. In five minutes it was en route to Ed Sunderland at Island Engravers. Result: the announcements were and at Island Engravers. Result: the announcements were complete, with pictures, when Cliff Rutledge lifted the first two copies off the press at 2.05 p.m.

TUESDAY.—Flew home from Vancouver in gale-force winds, low-lying cloud and driving rain. Aircraft like the inside of a Bendix; man across the aisle using a bag labelled "Pour le mal de l'air." One false pass at the run-way, then out and over some islands completely unrecogniz-able from the air. Down in 40 minutes, and very glad to be there.

WEDNESDAY-Prof. Arthur Lower, sporting a tidy white goattee, tossed off some erudite profundities in a most disarming manner at Canadian Club today. A new analogy on we Canucks of French-English background: we were "like the children of divorced parents, divided in our loyal-ties and in almost constant need of reassurance."

THURSDAY...To John Gray's party for Roderick L. Haig Brown, and much touched by Rod's autograph on the fly-leaf of his new book, "The Living Land"—"To Stu, with love, on publication day." Another word much debased in common parlance. In Shakespeare's time "love" was recognized and accepted as a term expressing the fraternal camaraderie of men, particularly among soldiers. Today the closest we dare express is: "I love him like a brother.

FRIDAY_Passed page 983 of William Shirer's "Rise and Fall of The Third Reich." and breathing hard—particularly after reading of 6,000 executions a day at Auschwitz and Herr Himmler's wicked sentence: "It is courageous for us to do this and remain decent fellows."

SATURDAY-Much mail this week on the jailing of fhe Chinese boy driver, including a detailed report on the 1959 arrest (by Harwood; the same officer) of a young man who had crossed a double-line and was (a) handcuffed to a lamp-post; (b) taken away in the paddy wagon; and (c) booked for "criminal negligence." I have only one word for citizens who suffer such indignities. Sue.

All in all, quite a week. The druggists have asked permission to use my face on their poison labels; the snows came, putting Christmas baubles on the blossoms of Japanese plum; and the Union Club steady, chaps discontinued serving its world-renowned port-cured Stilton cheese. Some weeks you just can't win.

Civic Centre Moves Closer

Latest Plan Goes To Committee Soon

By JOHN MIKA

A civic centre development on the Cathedral Hill

Two Streets Closed, 1 Diverted

A civic centre development on the Cathedral Hill site is moving closer to reality each day. Planners are entering the home-stretch in drawing up a development scheme which will group the new Law Courts Building, Royal Theatre, Christ Church Cathedral, Pioneer Square and proposed YM-YWCA centre in an integrated complex. City council authorized the planning work obtaining assurances of co-operation from the provincial public works department which is interested in preserving the beauty of the Law Courts' surroundings. The new plan will bring concepts up to date since the original Cathedral Hill plan drawn up by the Capital Region Planning Board was revealed in 1957. The solid white line shows the boundaries of the centre-original Cathedral Hill plan drawn up by the Capital Region Planning Board was revealed in 1957. No formal announcement of the plan's outlines has been of the precinct.

MILK CARTON ISSUE BACK

Persecution Goes On and On and On

Dumping of the milk carton size problem into the lap of the B.C. Legislature's agricultural committee will keep the issue alive and mean "more persecution" for Milky Way Dairy Ltd., manager Henry Robinson said today.

Agriculture Minister Frank Richter Friday won approval of the House to refer to the committee the matter of stiff observation of regulating milk cartons to standard

Canadian size.

For more than a year Milky Way has been battling the government because of the size of carton it uses—64 Canadian fluid ounces—an off-size not related to the Canadian gallon. It was decided in court recently that the B.C. government had no jurisdiction over the matter.

"T'm fed up," Mr. Robinson said today. "The persecution goes on, and on, and on. I don't know what the new move means, but all these measures against us have meant that we can't plan ahead."

that we can't plan ahead,"

The 64-ounce carton would be illegal under proposed rules. While Mr. Richter's motion recommended regulations be enforced "forthwith," it will be up to the committee to decide,

GIVE To The RED CROSS!

Col. A. D. Murdoch (rtd.), centre, campaign chairman of Victoria and district, with Mr. and Mrs. Geoffrey Gilbert, co-chairmen of the residential districts. Quota for the March drive for funds to assist the work of the Red Cross is $79,000 for Victoria — the same as last year. (Photo by Irving Strickland.)

Money given to Red Cross helps maintain an arts and crafts room at Veterans' Hospital where two supervisers and six volunteer workers guide patients into projects in which ideas of the mind are combined with skills of the hands. From the left, Morley McQueen, Mrs. Maud Kidson and D. McPhail, all patients in the hospital, gain companionship in working together, health benefits, and also earn a little pocket money in the arts and crafts room. (Photo by Ryan Bros.)

"The Red Cross helped me! Please give, so that others like me may also be helped!" Twelve-year-old Brenda Lageri, one of first RH negative babies in British Columbia to receive a complete blood replacement at birth makes this plea. Her mother, Mrs. M. N. Lageri (shown at left with Brenda when she was six months) is a member of the staff of the Red Cross home emergency service, a group of cross home emergency service, a group of women trained to go into the home in time of emergency and help out or take over as required. Blood transfusion and home emergency services both are helped by donations made during the Red Cross drive. (Photo of Brenda today by Irving Strickland.)

Red Cross lodges are maintained adjacent to the eight veterans' hospitals in Canada, for benefit of hospitalized veterans. In Victoria the lodge is staffed by 15 volunteer workers per day, under one paid superviser. There is a canteen, writing room, quiet room, lounge facilities as well as next-of-kin sleeping rooms at very low price. Annual "open house" will be held March 11 and 12 from 2 to 4.30 p.m., when the public may visit and see the lodge in action. Above, Mrs. J. S. Heal, left, and Mrs. H. A. Johnston, Rotary Ann volunteers, with patients, T. Gray, W. Jackson and W. Broadley, in the canteen. (Photo by F. W. Barnes Studio.)

Corps of campaign canvassers includes, from the left, Mrs. H. D. Twigg, Mrs. J. A. McArthur, Miss Gladys Irving and Mrs. F. Baylis. Mrs. Twigg and Miss Irving are volunteer workers on the hospital visiting committee. The Red Cross maintains in British Columbia outpost hospitals, veterans' services and welfare, nursing services, disaster and emergency aid, water safety service, a large junior Red Cross group, a women's work committee and blood transfusion service. (Photo by Irving Strickland.)

New Garden Edging Will Be Useful and Attractive

With March heading the calendar, enthusiastic Victoria gardeners are busy making plans for bigger and better displays this year. One aid that will be useful in many gardens is a flexible plastic tube, being introduced in Victoria for the first line. first time. It comes in a package of 12, that sells at $1.29.

These tubes; each measuring 32 inches, would be ideal for edging walks, flower beds or for protecting new shrubs or trees. They'll bend to any shape and are completely weather-proof, unbreakable, and will never need painting.

With them you'll even be able to create your own designs, providing a touch of individuality to the garden.

If you become "all fingers and thumbs" when sowing seeds, you'll want to invest in hand seed sower that sells at 57 cents. This Canadian-made sower is easy to use and can be regulated to broadcast or sow seeds one at a time.

Planning to have hanging flower pots this summer? If you are, take a look at new plastic line that has just been unpacked in store I was in this week.

These come in either ivory, decorated with undertones in pastel shades or warm shades of brown and green. Each flower pot is suspended by three slender but sturdy wires. Ones measuring 7½ inches in diameter and 8½ inches in depth sell at 79 cents while others measuring 6½ inches in diameter and 61/2 inches in depth are priced at 69

The week in review:

MONDAY-A great flap today when the news of MONDAY—A great flap today when the news of Eaton's top-level appointments, due for release Tuesday, was leaked in Vancouver this morning. At a noon—15 minutes after the engraving deadline—it was discovered that the cut of local manager Alan Leith had disappeared from the newspaper's library. What to do? Some bright lad downtown conceived the idea of taking a new picture with a Polariod Land Camera. In five minutes it was en route to Ed Sunderfand at Island Engravers. Result: the announcements were complete, with pictures, when Cliff Rutledge lifted the first two copies off the press at 2.05 p.m.

TUESDAY—Flew home from Vancouver in galeforce winds, low-lying cloud and driving rain. Aircraft like the Inside of a Bendix; man across the aisle using a bag labelled "Pour le mal de Pair." One false pass at the runway, then out and over some islands completely unrecognizable from the air. Down in 40 minutes, and very glad to be

WEDNESDAY-Prof. Arthur Lower, sporting a tidy white goattee, tossed off some erudite profundities in a most disarming manner at Canadian Club today. A new analogy on we Canucks of French-English background: we were "like the children of divorced parents, divided in our loyalties and in almost constant need of reassurance."

THURSDAY-To John Gray's party for Roderick L. Haig-Brown, and much touched by Rod's autograph on the fly-leaf of his new book, "The Living Land"—"To Stu, with love, on publication day." Another word much debased in common parlance. In Shakespeare's time "love" was recognized and accepted as a term expressing the fraternal camarederie of men, particularly among soldiers. Today the closest we dare express is: "I love him like a brother."

FRIDAY—Passed page 983 of William Shirer's "Rise and Fall of The Third Reich," and breathing hard—particularly after reading of 6,000 executions a day at Auschwitz and Herr Nimmler's wicked sentence: "It is courageous for us to do this and remain decent fellows."

SATURDAY Much mail this week on the jailing of the Chinese boy driver, including a detailed report on the 1959 arrest (by Harwood, the same officer) of a young man who had crossed a double-line and was (a) handcuffed to a lamp-post; (b) taken away in the paddy wagon; and (c) booked for "criminal negligence." What Happened to Three Fliers?

Capts. John McKone and Freeman Ohnstead raised new questions today about the fate of three fellow crewmen missing since their RB-47 reconnaissance bomber was shot down by the Russians last

Answering questions publicly for the first time Friday since their return from a Russian prison, the two U.S. Air Force officers told about the brief air battle that international tension

McKone, 28, and Olmstead, 25, revealed that the RB-47, previously described as unarmed, had two 20-millimetre cannon in the tail and that they returned the fire of the Soviet MiG fighter that sent the down in flames. McKone and Olmstead skirted salient questions about the object of the mission, what happened to three members of the crew, and what information they gave the The two poised young men said they were treated as criminals by the Russians but were never brought to trial: They told of what seemed like endless interrogation in cold, solitary cells with lights burning 24 hours a day and a diet which took 40 pounds off each man. questioning, was this:

The plane was on a prescribed course, skirting the Russian land mass by at least

Suddenly the Americans sighted the MiG fighter.

Missiles from the Russian plane ripped into the RB-47's No. 2 and No. 3 engines, located nearest the fuselage of the six engined craft on the left wing. The two engines burst into flames and the plane went out of control.

When the Russian fired, Olmstead activated the RB-47's automatically-controlled cannons. Weapons of this kind are radar-controlled and fire as soon as they fasten on a target after being activated. Whether the MiG was hit was not

Olmstead said he saw three other para chutes on his descent. McKone said he saw only two. Each agreed one of the 'chutes they saw was that of the other. A third parachute possibly was that of the aircraft commander, Maj. William Palm. who was killed. His body was returned

DINNER FROM ENGLAND FOR QUEEN IN TEHRAN

TEHRAN (AP)—Queen Elizabeth took a long look at the fabulous crown jewels of Iran Friday. Her guide was Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevt.

She and Prince Philip also saw 60 bare chested frantan strongmen twirl 25-pound dumbbells as if they were sticks, They viewed a picket-size track meet, and heard a man pound a drum and recite a poem comparing the Queen

Then they dressed for a dinner featuring smoked salmon and pheasant flown in from England.

These were the high points of the first full day of the Queen's state visit to the land of the Peacock Throne. It was a jam-packed day, featuring no less than 11 separ-
